OVERVIEW

Michael represents federal contractors, grant recipients, and companies and institutions doing business with or having matters before the U.S. Government.

In a diverse array of matters including Construction Litigation and Labor & Employment, Michael is a tenacious advocate for government contractors. He has extensive experience advising and litigating employment-related matters for federal contractors including Davis-Bacon Act, Service Contract Act, federal contractor Paid Sick Leave, federal contractor minimum wage, and OFCCP matters. Michael represents clients in Contract Disputes Act, Miller Act and breach of contract claims in federal and state trial and appellate courts and in bid protests before the U.S. Court of Federal Claims and U.S. Government Accountability Office. In addition, he advises government contractors, federal grant recipients, educational institutions and foreign governments on Federal Acquisition Regulation compliance, facilities and security clearances, False Claims Act, Buy American Act and debarment/suspension.

Thanks to his appellate training, Michael has a gift for finding the legal vulnerabilities in a case. He views litigation as a complex chess match where he can outsmart opponents not only on the facts of a matter, but also on the legal framework and the finer points of the law in question.

In addition to his work with the complexities of government contracting and labor and employment law, clients appreciate that Michael has significant experience as a commercial litigator, in intellectual property and trademark matters, and challenging federal agency rulemaking and adjudications under the Administrative Procedure Act. Over more than 25 years of practice, he has also defended employers against trade secret misappropriation, breach of noncompetition and nondisclosure agreements, employment discrimination and retaliation (under a variety of federal and state statutes including Title VII, the Americans with Disabilities Act, Age Discrimination in Employment Act, and False Claims Act), wrongful termination, Fair Labor Standards Act, ERISA, OSHA, and unfair labor practice claims in federal and state trial and appellate courts and administrative hearings.

Clients also appreciate Michael's pragmatism: he puts himself in the client's shoes when he's mapping out a strategy, aiming to ensure that every legal victory truly is a win for the client's business and budget.

Featured Experience

Challenging the Service Contract Act's Reach To Cooperative Agreements

When the Department of Health & Human Services (HHS) retroactively applied Service Contract Act (SCA) clauses and prevailing wage determinations to its cooperative agreements with a nonprofit emergency services provider that provided migrant shelter facilities and related services, the organization found itself facing an existential crisis of both tens of millions of dollars of liability as well as potential debarment. Prior to this, the SCA had never been applied to cooperative agreements. Faced with the possibility of a lengthy administrative review process, Michael boldly decided to pursue this case of first impression in federal court under the Administrative Procedure Act and sued both HHS and Department of Labor (DOL) in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Texas, arguing that the SCA cannot apply under the plain language of the Federal Grants and Cooperative Agreements Act because the SCA only applies to contracts, and cooperative agreements are not a contracts.

A district court initially ruled against the client on an alleged lack of final agency action despite clear written direction from the Acting Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division and the DOL Solicitor ordering the client to comply with the SCA. Based on DOL's apparent final agency action, Michael appealed to the Fifth Circuit. Because a Fifth Circuit ruling for the client would have been precedential and substantially expanded the scope of DOL actions that constitute final agency action going forward, opening up a broader range of SCA decisions to potential judicial review, the Department of Justice approached Michael and his team weeks before the scheduled oral argument, eager for a settlement. The government ultimately agreed to substantially all of the client's settlement demands made prior to the suit, and the case was dismissed on the eve of appellate oral argument.

Experience

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS

- Represented long-time concessions operator at BWI Thurgood Marshall Airport in a protest against a Request for Proposal process and the resulting contract award to a politically connected startup. Unusually, for administrative reasons, the Maryland state bid protest was required to be filed in Maryland state court, resulting in withdrawal of original RFP and a redo of the entire procurement.
- Served as expert witness in Colorado state court on matter involving federal telecommunications grant compliance and due diligence.
- Won construction bid protest against WMATA (Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority).
- Advised international electronics manufacturer on state procurement contract issues involving CARES Act funding related to COVID-19 pandemic prevention/remediation.
- Defended Third-Party Administrator from U.S. Department of Labor ERISA civil action in federal court concerning alleged fiduciary breaches and prohibited transactions involving Service Contract Act compliant health and welfare fund for AbilityOne Program federal contractor.
- Represented e-discovery provider in "reverse Freedom of Information Act" case to protect provider's confidential pricing and other information contained in its proposal and resulting government contract.
- Won on behalf of military defense contractor U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) preaward bid protest, which was filed against Defense Logistics Agency (contracting on behalf of Army, Navy, and Air Force) and concerned lease of multi-function copiers throughout Republic of Korea.
- Advised foreign transportation company on federal and state government contracts compliance issues related to proposals for Maryland Purple Line procurement.

Experience

- Initiated state investigations with various Maryland agencies against competitor highway construction company for alleged federal and state contracting compliance issues.
- Advised manufacturer of state-of-the-art military communications equipment on data and patent rights arising under FAR and DFARS clauses.
- Advised U.S. subsidiary of foreign electronics and software company on Buy American Act and Trade Agreements Act compliance related to government contracting for transportation rolling stock and equipment.
- Represented Job Corps Center operators in pre-award bid protests in Federal Circuit and Court of Federal Claims challenging U.S. Department of Labor's decision to preclude large businesses from solicitations for operator contracts.
- Defended regional construction subcontractor in Davis-Bacon Act administrative litigation initiated by U.S. Department of Labor.
- Won dismissal of Davis-Bacon Act and other related federal contracting and employment claims on behalf of two national construction companies and regional subcontractor in Fourth Circuit and Maryland federal court on grounds that such statutes do not create private cause of action for employees.

LABOR & EMPLOYMENT

- Obtained preliminary injunction against former employees and their new employers in trade secret misappropriation and non-competition litigation in U.S. District Court for the District of Maryland and U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia.
- Obtained summary judgment and dismissal for national cemetery company in federal race and gender discrimination and retaliation case.
- Obtained dismissal of Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and related state charges of employment discrimination brought by terminated employees against federal services contractor.

Experience
